

Digital Organizer

Innovation Ohio is looking for a talented organizer to join our team and help us build a new digital organizing program. The ideal candidate will be ready to hit the ground running to build a new organic content distribution project in partnership with national and state affiliates. This is a full-time position funded through the 2024 election cycle, with a potential to extend beyond.

Responsibilities:

- Develop and maintain relationships with volunteers and activists to move them into a ladder of engagement with Innovation Ohio
- Cultivate networks of activists and micro-influencers to create and share compelling online content
- Own the implementation of the organic content distribution program at Innovation Ohio and partner with staff to ensure the program is incorporated into strategic plans and goals
- Ensure Innovation Ohio's message and strategic priorities are reflected in the content shared through the program
- Utilize data and metrics to analyze what organizing approaches and creative content are working and learn from failures to continually improve the program performance

Requirements:

- Understanding of social media tools and trends
- A demonstrated commitment to racial, economic, and social justice value
- Ohio experience or connections to Ohio communities
- Creativity and flexibility to problem solve and engage in finding solutions around obstacles
- Motivated to elect Democrats and support progressive policies
- A passion for experimentation and building new things

Staff meetings in Columbus may be required on occasion. *Proof of COVID-19 vaccination (including eligible boosters) is required unless a medical or religious accommodation is granted.

Applications will be considered on a rolling basis until the position is filled. The salary for this position ranges from $45,000-$50,000 per year commensurate with experience.
